

No company has the right to intrude into my house on the phone line that I pay for for my own convenience, not that of those wishing to sell me something. Do not weaken the no-call list. My entire family backs this statement.